Legislature's First House Bills Introduced 24 Days After Opening Of Session

By MAC ROY RASOR.

AUSTIN, Feb. 3.—(P)—The 51st legislature's first house bills were formally introduced today, 24 days after the start of the session.

Speaker Durwood Manford called on all house committee chairmen to call organization meetings immediately to expedite the processing of bills. Some 300 measures have been filed with the clerk of the house, but only three have been formally introduced by first reading.

They were: House Bill 1, by Rep. C. P. McKnight of Quitman, to create a state board to manage state hospitals, taking this function away from the board of control.

House Bill 2, by Reps. W. O. Reed and others, appropriating $3,600,000 for establishment of the Southwestern Medical College at Dallas, under direction of the University of Texas.

House Bill 3, by Rep. Tom Whitehead of Tyler, creating a committee to recommend election law revisions.

The election law and Southwestern medical bills were companion measures to two already introduced in the senate. Although a movement has been started to put the proposed medical branch under direction of Texas Tech, Reed's bill was introduced in its original form which called for an establishment of a branch of the University of Texas Medical College at Dallas.

Resolutions calling for studies of the structure and the structure of the state government were introduced in the senate.

The senate also received a proposed constitutional amendment which would permit women to serve on juries.

Senator Keith Kelly of Fort Worth offered the resolutions, which would have to be adopted.

Motive Clear—

'Peace' Over By Stalin Fails To Split West

LONDON, Feb. 3.—(P)—Most of western Europe agreed today with President Truman's decision not to accept Prime Minister Stalin's newspaper invitation for meeting behind the Iron curtain.

A British foreign office spokesman said Britain was "in full agreement with the views expressed by U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson in turning down the proposal."

The British, this spokesman said at a news conference, had been fully consulted by the U. S. state department on the whole matter. This country's views had been sought and were given, he said.

Nevertheless, some segments of the non-Communist press said Stalin could mean business, and the western powers have a duty to investigate that possibility.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(P)—The United States served notice on the world today that it will allow no Russian "peace maneuver" to disrupt the growing unity of the non-Communist Western Powers.

That was the real significance seen by diplomatic officials here in Secretary of State Acheson's rejection of Premier Stalin's latest declaration of his willingness to hold a meeting with President Truman.

American diplomats abroad in Western as well as Eastern Europe were expected to make the most of this new and detailed statement of Washington's determination not to make any direct side deals with the Soviet Union at the possible expense of other nations.

by the house to become effective—on tax and government examinations.

The first calls for appointment of 31 members to make a thorough study of the question of taxation, along lines suggested by the state Democratic platform and by Gov. Beauford H. Jester.

The second provides for an 18-member committee to study governmental structure, with the idea of effecting economies. Both were referred to committees.

The women on juries proposed constitutional amendment was offered by Senator Fred Harris of Dallas.

Then the house and senate joined in passing a resolution calling for adjournment until Monday.

The senate's influential finance committee yesterday approved for senate action a proposal to cover a $9,000,000 shortage in state aid for rural schools.

A few house committees also began to move while this branch still awaited introduction of bills. House bills were being filed with the clerk for introduction but through yesterday had not reached the speaker's desk.

Employment a Bit Off—

If Figures Mean Anything, Corsicanans Felt A Chill Of Depression With Snow

Economists who follow trends with an avid eye, hunting both causes and cures, can have a picnic with the following terse bits of data regarding Navarro county's labor market as January went out in a br-r-r.

1. During January claims for unemployment benefits jumped to the highest peak since February, 1948.

2. Claims for state unemployment benefits increased four-fold over any month since last February, and war veterans claims practically doubled that of any month since late in 1947.

3. New applications for work at the local office of the Texas Employment Service also doubled the normal rate of activity.

Job openings listed also were at the lowest figure since February, 1948, with only 108 openings being added during the month, with 92 people being placed.

This compares with a total of 200 jobs listed in December, and the year's high of 310 in October, and does not include farm openings.

4. Ninety-four claimants for unemployment benefits dropped their claims during January, but 254 new claims were taken.

5. The active file count of those seeking employment at the end of January was 761, compared with more than 1,100 at the end of February, 1948.

W. E. Reedy, manager of the Corsicana office of the TEC, compiled the unhappy data above and coupled with it the statement that the forecast for the next 60 days does not reflect much improvement.

"While no reductions are planned, the TEC is hopeful that the situation will improve in the near future."

Navy To Lay Up 72 Ships In Cut To Meet Budget

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(P)—The navy said today it will have to lay up 72 ships, including 15 top-line fighting vessels, and cut its strength by 30,000 men to meet President Truman's 1950 budget.

Secretary of the Navy Sullivan said three Essex-class carriers, nine light cruisers and three anti-aircraft cruisers have been picked for inactivation at once.

to increase his overall activity, but to no avail. The boys who needed the articles the worst didn't have the wherewithal," the employment director said.

Reedy also cleared up one point that has had a great many people worried: when does a depression start?

"The laborer who suddenly finds the weather has shut him out of his job becomes as of that minute an unemployed individual. Faced with high food costs, rents and other monthly or weekly matters, he muses over reports that a recession or depression is coming."

"To him he is already in the middle of one the first week that he fails to get home with a pay check."

Reedy pointed out that despite the fact that many Corsicana and Navarro county residents face this stern reality during January, total, overall employment remains high in this area for this season of the year.

"She Wouldn't Split"—

Dope, Sex, Greed Admitted Motives For Knife Murder Of Woman In Hotel

TEXARKANA, Feb. 3.—(P)—Police Chief Jack Runnels said Clarence J. Hankins admitted last night he quarreled in a local hotel room Tuesday with Bonnie Jean Shelton, then stabbed her with a pocket knife and strangled her.

The nude and bloody body of the 24-year-old Texarkana woman was found in the hotel room yesterday morning. Last night police arrested Hankins, 28, and also of Texarkana, and charged him with murder.

Runnels said Hankins made his signed statement in the New Boston, Texas, jail where he is held. The Texarkana man at first denied the slaying but broke down when confronted with his own blood-spattered clothing which had been found in his apartment, the police chief said.

Hankins' signed statement said he stabbed the Shelton woman three or four times with a pocket knife at about 3:30 p. m. Tuesday and then strangled her. When the body was found a cloth had been knotted tightly around her neck, her throat had been cut and there were knife wounds on the body.

The statement said he killed her because she double-crossed him—"She didn't do what I wanted her to, I wanted her to make some money and she wouldn't split with me."

Officer Floyd Watson, formerly with the Brownwood, Texas, police, said Miss Shelton was born and raised in Comanche, near Brownwood. He said he talked to the young woman last week while she was in the city jail here on a drunkenness charge.

Runnels said that Hankins, when he saw the clothes, said: "I'll admit it."

Hankins in his statement said he had known the woman about a month. He said that Tuesday afternoon they went to two Texarkana drug stores and purchased some "yellowjackets" a drug.

Then the statement said they went to the hotel where Hankins had obtained a room. Hankins said he had sexual relations with the woman; he said he started to leave but changed his mind, stabbed her three or four times with a pocket knife, then strangled her.

He said she put up a struggle and it took him five or ten minutes to kill her. He left the hotel, he said, and went home. He said he threw the knife out a window of the cab just before he got home.

Hankins said he went into the house, changed and hid his bloody clothes, then went to a tavern and stayed three or four hours before going back home to bed.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(P)—Senator Morse (R-Ore) declared in a tumultuous senate labor committee session today that the administration labor bill "hasn't a ghost of a chance" as it is now written.

Morse said "a lot of compromises must be made," and added: "Labor is not going to write this ticket. It is going to be written by the counting of noses in the senate. The votes are not there today to pass this bill."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(P)—The hammer and tongs battle over the Truman labor law resumed today with this question unanswered: Can the government under the proposed bill block critical strikes?

The Taft-Hartley act which the administration wants to repeal, curbs such strikes with court orders.

City To Invoke Tax Penalty Of 10 Per Cent Plus Interest

The city administration Thursday fought back with force individuals and corporations who allowed their 1948 taxes to go delinquent.

The commission in a series of informal conferences restored the 10 percent penalty clause which has been dormant since 1936, and gave notice that unless taxes are paid by March 1 the penalty, plus the 6 percent interest, will be invoked.

The action was expected to be bad news to persons who have been allowing their city taxes to go delinquent, and riding on the 6 percent money alone.

Miss Kate Dunn, tax assessor and collector, will be notified by the commission to start levying the penalty along with the interest after midnight, Feb. 28.

Miss Dunn has not completed a final survey of taxes paid for the 1948 period, but it was understood the percentage collected took a drop under the 1947 mark.

At least two large corporations failed to pay, and there were several other delinquent taxpayers who let the deadline date slip by.

In the lean years of 1936 the city commission, in an effort to collect a large sum of delinquent taxes, instructed the tax collector to make a special delinquent tax collector to adjust all delinquent taxes then on the rolls by striking off the penalty. The tax collector followed instructions, and no penalty has been charged against delinquent taxpayers during the lush years that followed 1941.

It was not known why previous administrations allowed the 10 percent penalty to remain dead.

It has been known that many persons allowed their taxes to ride, holding that 6 percent money wasn't bad. The imposition of the additional 10 percent will stop the practice, city officials believed.

Mayor Braselton said the extra period was granted in view of the past practices of the commission.

Jacobs quoted Section 47 of the city charter which provides that "upon taxes becoming delinquent 10 percent penalty shall be added, and the amount of taxes shall draw interest at the rate of 6 percent until paid, which penalty and interest shall be a lien against the property."

"I am of the opinion that since the word 'shall' was used, it is mandatory upon the tax collector to add the 10 percent penalty when the taxes become delinquent, and since the charter requires that the penalty be charged, I think it will take a charter amendment to repeal the clause requiring the penalty charge," Jacobs wrote.

The commission had not indicated that it desired the clause repealed, but asked Jacobs if it had the authority not to collect the penalty.

Jacobs advised the group that the tax collector should be instructed to carry out the requirements of the charter.

The commission flatly announced the March 1 deadline.

Friends In Their Need—

Seago Family's Gratitude Goes Out To Contributors

By BOB CAMPBELL

Daily Sun Staff

In a small room at the Brannon Hotel, 310 South Beaton St., there hangs upon the wall a glittering and forgotten message. It reads "Merry Christmas."

It just happened to be there when the family of Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Seago moved in this week after fire swept away their home at 503 South Thirteenth St. last Saturday. The mother, father, six children and a 72-year-old grandpa were occupying the two rooms Thursday, a roof over their heads.

Back in the corner sat the grandpa, Glen Douglas, pipe in his mouth and a bunch of love-lyness known as Shirley June, mostly eyes but plenty of hair cooling away in his arms. Shirley June is four months old, and the grandpa is 72, and they seem to be getting along all right together.

The family was happy that Corsicana residents had come to their aid when they needed it most—right after the fire had swept away everything they had accumulated.

A fund to help the family was started by J. C. Bristow, Seago's employer, with $100 last Saturday.

Thursday morning it had grown to $355.

"I had to cry," Seago, a plumber, said simply Thursday as he tried to list all of those who had brought him help. The room was stacked with groceries, and warm bed clothing, and clothes for the babies and the older children. It appeared that almost everybody had given something.

Mrs. H. Hamel, 616 South Fifteenth St., left a $1 bill at the Daily Sun office Thursday morning with a little note for the family.

"I am leaving $1 at the Sun office for your fund. Not much, but I know the loss of fire as my mother lost all she had in a fire. I am leaving you all some clothes and dishes at Mr. Kelley's home as I live close to them. We all have our troubles. I lost a hot water heater and pipes in the freeze."

"I pray you will soon have enough to start your house..."

At the Daily Sun office Thursday morning there was listed contributions from Dowd and Son, $5; Miss Laura Lovett, $10 and an anonymous contribution of $5.

Of the $355 total so far accumulated, $100 was given by Bristow.

Senator Tydings (D-Md), who heads the senate armed services committee, and Senator Connally (D-Tex), chairman of the foreign relations committee, said somebody besides atomic officials should get a look at the commission's reports before they are made public.

Connally said that talk of a super-bomb might make people feel that an army and navy were unnecessary. He said the reports should be screened by appropriate military or executive authorities, adding:

"I don't want the destiny of this country to hang on what some man in one of these bureaus decides to do."

BERLIN, Feb. 3.—(P)—The Western powers tightened their counter-blockade against the Russian sector of Berlin today.

Western Berlin's German police placed extra patrols at the sector boundaries to stop the flow of machinery and other industrial products into Soviet-occupied territory.

Public hearings on a new housing bill occupied the schedule of the senate banking subcommittee. Hearings may take about two weeks. Senator Sparkman (D-Ala.) said the complex legislation to provide the low-rental public housing, slum clearance, rural housing and housing research may have to be broken down into several pieces, but said that presented no major difficulties.

President Truman's request for broad powers to reorganize government agencies is set for house debate Monday if the house committee on executive expenditures finishes its work on time, majority leader McClellan (D-Mass) said today.

Time-out was called in another battle between the senate and the house yesterday by a 7 to 5 vote decided to delay action on the filibuster until next Wednesday.

Chairman Spence (D-Ky) of the house banking committee said congress may write a ban against mass evictions of tenants into its new rent control law. Both landlords and tenants, he said, will have plenty of chance to testify when hearings start Monday on the administration bill. The measure would extend strengthened rent controls for two years.

The senate-house committee on atomic energy went behind closed doors today to study and discuss top-secret quarterly reports by Chairman David E. Lillenthal of the atomic energy commission.

On the defense front, senators who conferred secretly with Secretary of Defense Forrestal and top leaders of the armed forces yesterday, said later that they have no fear of an immediate war with Russia or any other nation.

Primate Denies Overthrow Move; 'Deeds' Admitted

Cardinal Calm At Dock, Garbed In Priest's Habit

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Feb. 3.—(P)—Josef Cardinal Mindszenty told a people's court trying him on treason charges today he "committed the majority of those deeds" he is charged with, but denied he ever "planned a movement to overthrow the government."

Cardinal Mindszenty is accused with six others of treason, espionage and black market dealings.

Calnly the 56-year-old Primate of the Roman Catholic Church of Hungary acknowledged authorship of a letter which said he wanted to "admit before the trial, voluntarily, the deeds I am charged with."

But when he went to the dock, garbed as a simple Priest and without the marks of his high office, the Primate told the court:

"It is not my intention to mislead matters. I must state that I cannot accept all the conclusions contained in the indictment as a consequence of my activities."

"I cannot, for instance, accept the charge which alleged that I organized or led a movement to destroy the Democratic system of this state."

Cardinal Mindszenty gazed steadily at the presiding judge, Vilmos Olthys, as he testified before the five-man people's court. Despite almost 40 years in jail, his physical appearance seemed unchanged. There was no visible indication he had been beaten or drugged, as had been charged abroad.

The letter he acknowledged writing said he wanted to help effect the change from the old Hungarian government to the new. He said he would do this if the trial was put off. The court rejected his plea to separate his case from that of the other defendants.

(The Vatican radio said today "all seems to indicate there is not much hope" for the Cardinal. The broadcast, calling his conduct has been "a sign of courage," said the Vatican honors "humanity." The Vatican has communicated all having anything to do with bringing him to trial.)

Before Cardinal Mindszenty was brought to the dock, his former private secretary, the Rev. Ondorfi, also had pleaded "partly guilty." But Lajos Baranyay, white-haired professor of Canon law, pleaded innocent and frequently interrupted the reading of the charges to denounce certain points as untrue.

The presiding judge, Vilmos Olthys, opened his proceedings by reading an offer of the Cardinal to work for peace between church and state if the trial was deferred.

"Did you write this letter?" Judge Olthys asked.

"Yes," the Cardinal replied. His answer came in a firm, loud voice.

The Cardinal and six other defendants are charged with plotting against the present government, plotting to restore the Habsburg monarchy, espionage and dealing in black market currencies.

OUR MODERN BEWILDERED AGE CALLS FOR ONE SURE LEADER

World Changes Ultimately Depend on the Kind of Folks We Are—The Gospel Alone Transforms Character—Modern Preaching Needs Vitalizing—Sense of Guilt Lacking

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS and EARL L. DOUGLASS

The beginning of the Christian movement which has spread to the ends of the earth began when Jesus, after the death of His friend, John the Baptist, began to preach. "The time is fulfilled, and the Kingdom of God is at hand; repent ye, and believe the gospel."

Yet practically nobody realized that a new era of human history had begun. Only a few peasants in remote Galilee, who hung on his words with amazed adoration, realized that something of cosmic significance was taking place.

What, then, makes the kind of folk upon whom a world of security, sound ethics, and peace can be built? If our basic task is to conform human beings to the character which alone can give us a world fit to live in, we ought to be busy strengthening the means which will effect the desired result.

That quest lands us in the very center of the field of religion, which has always been the fundamentally formative force in the shaping of human character. Without religion we cannot have stable morality; without morality, we cannot have social safety; without social safety, we cannot have civilization. So the study of the life and teaching of Jesus becomes a paramount concern of our times, and the most practical method of making over this befuddled world of ours.

Mark—whose literary style is always succinct—describes in brief compass how the crowds gathered about the door of the house in Capernaum where Jesus was teaching and heard the gospel preached and saw the sick and afflicted healed. This crowd of simple people knew, even though the rest of the world was ambling along in complacent ignorance, that God was causing something of universal significance to take place through this young Teacher of Nazareth.

The result of a living allegiance to Jesus Christ has, from that day to this, been transforming human life. It has not patched up the old life but created within men a life new in quality and power. Down through the ages, the miracle of the transformed life has been acted over and over again. Christ has been healing the souls of men—and in an untold number of instances their bodies also—and these renewed men have been trying to make the world a better place in which to live. The miracle goes on so continually that for the most part it escapes the notice even of those who believe in it and are looking for it.

At the apex of His prestige, Jesus was fled from the crowds into desert places. In the fastness of the wilderness He renewed His spiritual strength, which upon the morrow He would pour out in the renewing of men's lives. If he, the Perfect One, needed prayer, how can we expect these bewildered minds of ours to lead us anywhere save to mistake and ruin, unless we avail ourselves of spiritual guidance?

Now after He came to Nazareth, where he had played in its streets, the carpenter who had carried on His trade in this little town, was back now after He had received the acclaim of thousands. How did his fellow citizens receive Him? At first with an eager curiosity. But when he spoke of Himself as God's winely appointed messenger, they were through with Him and cried out upon Him.

A Plea For Hints

What was His Message? It was the Gospel, or good news, for the suffering, and the oppressed, the suffering, and the oppressed.

His aim was the lifting of burdens, the binding up of wounds, the increase of human liberty, and the enlightening of the mind. Any preaching today which does not have a similar aim falls far short of being the simple Gospel proclaimed by the Redeemer Himself.

His preaching precipitated a riot. How singular! Our preaching today does not precipitate riots. Men usually listen to us and then go their way, shrugging their shoulders or chatting pleasantly about worldly matters.

Oh for a return of preaching that will stir the congregation into something—even into furious anger! The preaching of Jesus in the synagogue at Nazareth was authoritative, geared to human needs, and designed to induce in the hearts of the hearers a profound sense of unworthiness and sin. The day we get modern men to stand before the mirror and see himself as he really is, we shall be on the eve of the world-shaking religious revival.

SEVEN SENTENCE SERMONS

I conceive the essential task of religion to be to develop the consciences, the ideals, and the aspirations of mankind.

—Millikan.

If our religion is not true, we are bound to change it; if it is true, we are bound to propagate it.

—Whitley.

What matter, I or they? Mine or another's day. So the right word be said And life the sweeter made?

—Whittier.

It is not because men's desires are strong that they act ill; it is because their consciences are weak.

—J. S. Mill.

And Jesus went about all Galilee, teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing all manner of sickness and all manner of disease among the people.

—Matthew 4:23

The dust's for crawling, heaven's for flying. Wherefore, O Soul, whose wings are grown, Soar upward to the sun.

—Masters.

I do not like these mighty fine preachers who round off their sentences so beautifully, that they are sure to roll off the sinner's conscience.

—Hilli.

Dr. Will Miller Is Re-Appointed Health Officer

Dr. Will Miller was re-appointed Navarro County Health Officer during the afternoon session of the County Commissioners' Court Tuesday.

His annual salary was re-set at $900, a sum which Dr. Miller turns back to the local health unit in carrying out his duties. His two-year term had expired.

At the same time the court re-named three persons to the County Hospital Board. They are Dr. G. H. Sanders and Charles E. Reese, both of Kerens, and W. A. Crawford of Blooming Grove.

The commissioners, upon Surveyor W. V. Mowlam's request, authorized preparation and purchase of a dozen maps of Navarro County. Several requests for maps have been received but the supply is exhausted, Mowlam reported.

George Campbell of Corsicana was named city field deputy upon recommendation of Tax Collector Assessor A. A. Armstrong at $100 monthly salary. Campbell succeeds B. A. Crofford.

The only other action taken at the afternoon meeting was approval of bills submitted by Auditor E. Y. Cunningham.

All of the commissioners were present for the morning session. Carl McMillan of Chavilfield was absent Tuesday afternoon.

County Judge Joe D. Huffstutler presided at both sessions.

LEGISLATURE

The senate finance committee also cleared the way for senate floor action on 14 other bills, set eight bills for public hearings and referred 12 more to subcommittees.

The rural aid bill had been given Gov. Beauford H. Jester's No. 1 emergency tag. It would appropriate $3,000,000 to pay off debts incurred by school districts last spring to meet teacher payrolls. Another $5,000,000 would be provided to forestall their going in the red again this year.

Committee approval also went to measures that would grant $70,000 for microfilming state records, $20,170 to raise district attorneys salaries, $177,242 to cover deficiency grants made by the governor, $75,458 for judicial deficiency, and $10,400 for Panola Junior College.

Bills set for hearing included Senator Keith Kelly's proposal to drain off $50,000,000 from the state's big surplus to go into a savings fund. Hearing date is February 23.

Ellis to revamp the Texas prison system—including a $4,198,076 rehabilitation grant and a $539,398 emergency allotment—will be heard Feb. 7.

Senator Fred Harris' bill to appropriate $3,600,000 for a Southwestern Medical College of the University of Texas at Dallas was set for hearing Feb. 14. Meanwhile, West Texas legislators were sounding out North Texas lawmakers on the idea of making the proposed school a branch of Texas Tech. Rep. Preston Smith of Lubbock said the Dallas school would mostly serve West Texas and the Panhandle.

Another bill to appropriate $1,000,000 for a University of Texas medical branch in San Antonio is scheduled for public hearing February 9.

Bills to expand Texas' farm-to-market road program and to grant emergency increases in state employee salaries went to senate file.

AUSTIN, Feb. 3.—(P)—The senate finance committee has set public hearings on bills as follows:

Feb. 7—To appropriate $4,198,076 for rehabilitation and $539,398 for emergency expenses of the Texas prison system and to abolish an obsolete prison fund.

Glendon Thomas Catches Calf At Houston Show

Glendon Thomas, Eureka, Mildred FFA boy, caught a calf in the scramble at the Houston Fat Stock Show Wednesday night, J. H. Davis, vocational agriculture teacher of Mildred, reported on his return Thursday.

The calf captured by Thomas is a cross between Hereford and Graham types, entered by Burk Bros. of Corsicana.

The calf will be brought home by Thomas, put on a nurse cow, and will be returned to the show next year to be exhibited and judged.

James W. Sartwell, president of the Houston Fat Stock Show and also the First National Bank of Houston, is the sponsor for the calf.

Calf sales are to be made Friday in Houston.

Several of the nine Navarro county boys exhibiting calves have won honors, according to Davis.

Thomas's Hereford steer exhibited this year placed 12th in his class.

John Myers of Frost and Graves, Powell, both with Hereford steers, placed 22nd in their classes.

Charles Adams, also of Frost, placed 24th with his Hereford steer.

President Truman had an opportunity to see the picture during the day. He scheduled his usual weekly conference (8 p. m. CST) and it was expected that he would probably endorse fully all that Acheson had said.

The Secretary of State turned thumbs down on Stalin's latest peace maneuver at a news conference late yesterday.

He did it in such a way as indirectly to accuse Stalin of playing international politics with his statement last Sunday. That Stalin statement expressed a willingness to meet Mr. Truman for the purpose of considering a Soviet-American "pact of peace."

And Acheson also renewed the American charge that the present state of the world is due to Stalin's "obstructionism" in the United Nations and in other international forums where the great problems of the world are supposed to be solved.

Twice in his statement, which analyzed Stalin's Sunday declaration point by point, Acheson asserted the United States would not play politics with the world's peace.

Furthermore he made it clear that in his opinion it would be useless for an American President to travel "half way around the world" for the fourth time in their history and make a pledge of peace when both Russia and the United States are already pledged by the United Nations not to resort to war.

Acheson's statement was the first detailed official reaction here to the answers which Stalin released last Sunday to four questions put to him by the International News Service.

The secretary commented on all the questions in a manner which officials said was designed to make clear (1) where the responsibility for failure to get peace lies and (2) why the United States believes that no lasting results could be obtained through a Truman-Stalin conference.

The first question directed to Stalin was whether he wished to be prepared to consider issuing a "joint declaration" with the United States asserting that neither country has any intention of resorting to war against the other. Stalin replied that "The Soviet government would be prepared to consider the issuance of such a declaration."

Acheson said he found this answer "puzzling" and a "triumph of caution" since both countries are "pledged by the most solemn treaty commitments not to engage in war against one another."

Question number two dealt with whether Russia would carry out the suggested peace pact through such measures as gradual disarmament and Stalin replied that "naturally" Russia would do so.

Acheson attacked Stalin's reply by declaring that the Russians had frustrated every effort in the United Nations to achieve disarmament, control the atomic bomb and create a United Nations police force.

Acheson then skipped over the third question to take up the fourth in which Stalin had been asked whether he had been prepared to confer with President Truman, to which Stalin replied that there was "no objection to a meeting."

"Now in this connection," Acheson told the news conference, "it is not clear to you I should like to make it clear now that the government of the United States would not discuss with any nation any matter which was of direct interest to other nations without the participation of the representatives

Annie Lee Nutt Becomes Bride Of Vernon Conn

Miss Annie Lee Nutt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Nutt, and Vernon Lloyd Conn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Conn, were married at the parsonage of Missionary Baptist church Monday afternoon with the Rev. A. J. Kirkland as officiant for the single ring ceremony.

The bride was attired in a royal blue crepe with black accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

The bride was graduated from Corsicana High school and is employed at the Taylor Photographic Studio. The bridegroom attended Corsicana High school.

Mr. and Mrs. Conn plan to make their home in Corsicana.

of those other nations."

That was regarded by State Department authorities as the basis of the whole American position. Officials believe that Stalin had two purposes in mind in making what they consider a propaganda move.

One purpose was to try to maneuver the United States into position where it would be split off from the other Western Powers such as Britain and France and would stand willing to make deals on outstanding world issues directly with Russia.

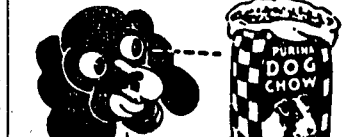

The other purpose, if the Russians could not accomplish the split, was to present the United States to the world as a nation unwilling to talk peace with Russia in contrast with Russia's expressed willingness to deal with the United States.

Water Code Tiff May Spur Meet

ABILENE, Feb. 3.—(AP)—The next step in the Texas water code controversy may be a meeting next week between representatives of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and the Texas Water Conservation Association.

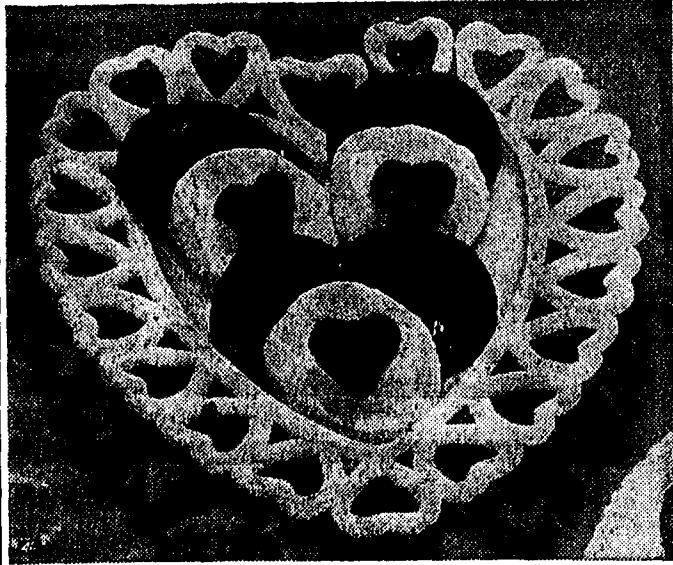

An authoritative WTCC source said last night such a meeting is likely. He spoke as the WTCC outlined its 17 objections to the water code drawn up by TWCA for submission to the legislature.

Copies of the objections were sent to John D. Mitchell, Odessa, WTCC president, and to Mayor Lawrence Hagy of Amarillo, chairman of the WTCC municipal water rights committee.

Five of the WTCC committee's objections are predicated on grounds the code would grant vested rights to all of the runoff of a watershed to any corporation or authority which may have already constructed a dam on the lower reaches of the watershed—although the water in the existing reservoir is for a use inferior to municipal rights or irrigation, such as generation of electric power.

Four of the objections are against proposals which the committee contends "might be construed to make untouchable all previous appropriations of water."

FONDANT VALENTINES . . . Sweets for the sweet.

Cupid's Sweet Hearts

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
If your boys and girls have never made edible valentines they'll get a big thrill out of concocting heart-shaped candy or cookies. Then they can package the sweets attractively and give them away, or they can be used for a Valentine party.

If the youngsters want to give their whole class a treat they might take a box to school.
The following recipe for candy is particularly suitable for young hands because it takes no cooking and can be made in three flavors.
Fondant Valentines
Ingredients: 6 cups sifted con-

fectioners' sugar, 6 tablespoons melted vitaminized margarine, 6 tablespoons evaporated milk, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon lemon extract, 2 tablespoons lemon rind, red food coloring, 1-2 teaspoon almond flavoring, 1-3 cup shredded coconut, 2 squares (2 ounces) unsweetened chocolate (melted), 1-2 teaspoon peppermint flavoring.

Method: Add sugar gradually to melted margarine, stirring until all the sugar is moistened. Add evaporated milk and salt; mix thoroughly. Divide the fondant into thirds. For Lemon Patties add 1-2 teaspoon lemon extract and 2 tablespoons lemon rind to one third of the fondant. For Coconut Delights add a few drops of red food coloring, 1-2 teaspoon almond flavoring and 2 tablespoons shredded coconut to another third of the fondant. When fondant has been cut into shapes sprinkle remaining coconut over the top. For Chocolate Mints add 2 squares unsweetened melted chocolate and 1-2 teaspoon peppermint flavoring to the last third of the fondant. Mix each of the three portions well. Knead each mixture separately on bread board sprinkled with confectioners' sugar until smooth and glossy. Roll or press into rectangles about 1-4-inch thick. Cut into hearts with various size cookie cutters. Makes 1-2 pounds candy. Here are some tips for Valentine candy making: Use your favorite sugar cookie recipe and roll thin, then cut in heart shapes. Frost with pink icing and decorate with pink coconut. To tint the coconut sprinkle it on a sheet of white paper; dilute a tiny bit of red vegetable coloring in a small amount of water. Sprinkle the diluted coloring over the coconut and rub evenly through the shreds.

If your youngsters would like to have arrows to go with the cookie hearts cut the arrow shapes out of cardboard, four them and use them as you would regular cutters, cutting the dough around the shape with a small sharp knife.

Children's Dental Health Termed Of High Importance

AUSTIN, Feb. 3.—Observance of the first National Children's Dental Health Day on Feb. 7, has been approved and commended to Texans by an official memorandum signed by Gov. Beauford H. Jester.
The dental health of children is of prime importance to their general well-being, and Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer, says that every child should be under the regular care of a competent dentist from the time he is 30 months of age.
"Much can be done in the way of tooth decay prevention by dentists or today," Dr. Cox said, "and studies are under way at present which may lead to still further advances in the control of dental caries. Two Texas cities with almost identical fluorine content in their city water supplies are being used in one experiment. Sodium fluoride is being added to the supply of one city, and the results in the reduction of dental caries checked against that of the city whose water supply is not treated.

"This experiment has been in progress only 29 months and it is too early to establish a positive evaluation, but the results checked so far have demonstrated a decided tendency to caries reduction in the city where sodium fluoride is added to their drinking water."
Early training of children in good dental hygiene will materially aid them in keeping their teeth and gums in good condition, and their regular visits to the dentist will enable him to make any corrections as soon as they are needed.

Nice free-ripened bananas? You wouldn't like them!

A wonderful, wondrous fruit is the banana! It's at its best only when harvested green and then ripened. This is, of course, fortunate for us who live far from the growing areas. The fruit can be brought to us green and then ripened. But what a difference there is in the flavor and texture of bananas that have been ripened in different ways!

That's why Safeway has special banana-ripening rooms where ideal conditions are maintained to bring the fruit to finest eating quality. Temperature and humidity are rigidly controlled so that ripeness develops uniformly through the fruit. The air is kept just moist enough to build up the rich, natural juices. Ripening is never hurried. It takes time for the starches in the green bananas to be changed to the sugars that give the fruit its wonderful flavor.

Because we control the ripening process so completely, you can always be sure of getting full, rich, ripe bananas at Safeway. And bananas are just one example of the care we take to see that every fresh fruit and vegetable we offer you in our stores is at its peak of goodness.

GUARANTEED MEATS

ON THE JOB—Tom McCarthy, news director of a station in Cincinnati, broadcasts from the scene of a news story.

Mobile Phone Gets Eye Witness News

AP Newsfeatures. CINCINNATI — Radio Station WKRC has come up with what it believes is a "first" in newscasting. Through use of the mobile telephone, transcribed on-the-scene broadcasts are aired with only a 10 second delay from phone to transmitter. Tom McCarthy, news director of the station, says the system is especially adaptable to the violent type of story—fires, riots, strike disorders, floods and the like.

When word comes to the WKRC news room, adjoining the city room of the Cincinnati Times-Star, that a big story is in the making, McCarthy heads for the scene in an automobile equipped with a mobile phone. After parking his car at an advantageous spot, he calls the station and tells the switchboard operator he wants a transcription line.

An engineer sets up the transcription line, with a "beeper" attached, and McCarthy begins a three-minute description from the scene. He signs off and, at the station, the program in progress is interrupted and McCarthy's transcription is played back immediately.

A recent $50,000 fire in neighboring Newport, Ky., was McCarthy's first effort in transcribing via the mobile phone. Traffic in most of the downtown area of Cincinnati was snarled several days ago. McCarthy joined the crowd and described conditions via the mobile phone.

"We plan to make the mobile telephone transcriptions a regular operation of the news department," he said, "and look for it to be especially helpful during the annual flood season on the Ohio river here next spring."

Car Of Potatoes Arrives Monday For Distribution

Navarro county school authorities involving lunch room programs were confronted with a double problem Tuesday morning.

A rail car of Irish potatoes arrived in Corsicana late Monday for distribution to the schools sponsoring the lunch room programs.

Bad road conditions handicapped the potatoes and others coming for their consignments, and then, too, it was feared that the intense cold may have frozen or damaged the spuds.

Despite the handicaps, however, there were a number at the county school superintendent's office early Tuesday morning for the potatoes.

BOYLE'S Column

NEW YORK—(P)—There's a fellow missing from the contemporary scene.

But there's some doubt if very many people miss him much. The fellow I'm talking about is the big ha-ha man of yesterday—the practical joker.

He was some prankster. At the office he'd leave a faked summons from the boss in your typewriter. He'd have his girl friend write a mash letter to your home signed "With all my love, Molly." He was the fellow who anonymously addressed 30 different life insurance salesmen you wanted to buy a policy. And he saw that they all called on you at the same hour.

In the old days he carried a loaded cigar in his pocket. He also had some kitchen matches to give you the hotfoot. If a bum asked him for a coin to buy a cup of coffee, the practical joker always managed to have a Canadian dime ready to drop into his hand. When he threw a party, he slipped you a glass with a hole near the top—so the drink dripped all over your new suit.

Well, somewhere along the way that kind of nonsense went out. There was no widespread rebellion among the victims of the practical jokers. But somehow his jokes by and large, just quit being funny.

The trouble with the practical joker was that he usually put somebody on the pan. And a generation that has weathered a major depression and two world wars probably just got tired of seeing anybody on the pan. It ceased to be funny. Life became too practical for impractical practical jokes.

The world has grown up too much to enjoy the cruel and hurtful practical jokes of the past. When the last practical joker is buried, it would be pleasant to put him under a nice tombstone bearing this epitaph: "Having wonderful time. Wish you were here."

Nobody would begrudge him this last laugh—as long as we were sure it was his last one.

3035 Students Are Enrolled In Local Schools

A total of 3,035 enrollment for the Corsicana public schools was reported from the office of W. H. Norwood, superintendent, Tuesday morning.

It was stated, however, that the true enrollment should be "higher since scores of students are absent due to measles."

Enrollment at the beginning of the Spring term last January was 2,980, while this year it was 2,909.

Enrollment by schools—Senior High School, 472; Junior High School, 331; Sam Houston, 417; Wm. B. Travis, 536; Robert E. Lee, 31; David Crockett, 47; Stephen F. Austin, 76. Total with—2,195;

Jackson School, 640; Washington, 201—Total colored—841. Grand total—3,035.

The total enrollment the first day of the spring term January 24, was 2,909, showing 126 enrolled during the first week.

DAR Citizenship Manual Readied For Distribution

The Daughters of the American Revolution Manual for Citizenship will be available on March 1st to any foreign-born resident who desires to become a citizen. The Manual may be obtained from Miss Kate Holman at Corsicana Public Library, officials of the local DAR chapter have announced.

The basic purpose of the Manual is to make available information to the foreign born who wish through the medium of naturalization to become a citizen of the United States of America.

The Manual is a textbook for preparatory study for naturalization and does not fulfill its primary purpose when presented to the new citizen at the consummation of naturalization.

Another use for the Manual is for the foreign brides of the United States soldiers who are eligible for naturalization after a two years' residence in the United States.

Placed in Public Schools.

Manuals have been placed in large numbers in the public schools as a textbook on American citizenship. It contains a brief history of the United States; the Constitution and what it does for citizens; the American flag and its laws; and How to Become an American Citizen.

Reds Claim Discoveries.
MOSCOW—(P)—A recent book by a Russian geographer claims that in the exploration and settlement of America Russia played "no small role."

The book, "From the History of Russian Expeditions in the Pacific Ocean," was written by A. V. Effrey and published by the Military Publishing House of the Ministry of the Armed Forces of the Soviet Union. It claims that "immense areas of Northwestern America were discovered, investigated and described by Russian navigators and only by them, and then by right of discovery and settlement Alaska was united to Russia."

The book states that "the role of Russian people—state figures, scholars, travelers, sailors, soldiers—all those who by heavy labor conquered the elements, battling with death, discovered new routes, new lands; the role of those who in the most direct sense discovered America from the West—cannot be exaggerated."

Humphrey Bogart Lists Pet Peeves, Most Everything

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 3.—(P)—Humphrey Bogart, who is my favorite grouch, now comes up with a definite list of his pet peeves.

Bogie is usually beefing about something, whether it's Warner Brothers or San Francisco or women. I pinned him down on the "Tokyo Joe" set for a cataloging of his favorite hates. Stand back, everybody, here goes:

"Radio shows that go in for exploitation of any human being for the amusement of other so-called human beings.

"Columnists who use slanderous gossip and call it news.

"Motion picture producers who draw big salaries and couldn't operate a Brownie.

"Any organized group that picks on Hollywood for publicity.

"Book jackets—they get in my way.

"People who come up and say 'remember me?' And never tell you their names. You say 'yeah,' and they answer 'no, you don't.'"

"Women who demand equal rights, but won't accept equal responsibility.

"Professional Nationalists—professional Irishmen, Englishmen, etc. 'People who don't like me.'"

What Hollywood is Talking About... Universal's three million loss for its last fiscal year... How will the recent news events affect the box-office of Rita Hayworth and Robert Mitchum?... Taxes—with March 15 rearing its ugly head...

What is Howard Hughes going to do with RKO?... The lift Dore Schary has given MGM... The sensational rise of Montgomery Clift... The success of "The Red Shoes" and why can't Hollywood make a picture as good?... CBS' theft of NBC talent and the rumors Eddie Cantor and Ozzy and Harriet will join the trend.

Burning Issue.
NEW YORK.—(P)—A New Jersey hotel posts the following instructions for guests who plan to smoke in bed:

"1. Call the office and notify the management where you wish your room to be smoked in. It is a matter of record that a very high percentage of hotel fires are caused by this careless practice.

"2. Notify guests in adjoining rooms of your intention of endangering their lives, so that they may take necessary precautions to protect themselves.

"3. Go to the corridor and locate the nearest fire escape, so that if you are fortunate enough to escape your room, you may reach safety.

The estimate of the number of persons exposed is that of Dr. Lloyd Smith, another of the affected persons, and Dr. Joseph G. Hamilton, physician in charge of the medical cyclotron in Berkeley, where hundreds of scientists have worked near these rays without a reported case of eye injury.

The cataract cases, says Dr. Hamilton, illustrate why scientists have been trying strenuously to learn more about what atomic radiation does to living things.

The answer involves the health of perhaps 10,000 people working in one way or another with atomic radiation. It also concerns the Army and Navy and other groups who some day may have to deal with atomic power or atom bombs.

All the researchers involved knew the notecy of neutron rays. They thought they were being careful. They had periodical blood tests which they relied upon to show any beginning sign of damage.

And yet years later, five of them discover that they have lost a part of their eyesight because the rays struck a vulnerable part of their body without affecting their blood.

This proved that blood tests are not enough. Medical scientists long before had suspected as much and provided additional safeguards. However, there was an interval of two or three years prior to 1942 during which powerful cyclotrons were just getting into operation in various parts of the country.

Dr. Smith, a young physicist now working here, says:

"Adjustments have to be made now and then to keep a cyclotron functioning properly. The adjusting is best done while the machine is running. This means getting the head and shoulders within a foot or so of the neutron producing chamber for a few minutes at a time."

"The adjuster, of course, does not get into the direct path of the neutron ray but comes within the range of stray neutrons flying out of the chamber. In the course of a year and a half I probably spent a total of not more than 10 hours in this way."

One of Dr. Smith's eyes now is almost sightless and the other is materially impaired. An operation can restore sight. A thick eyeglass lens will take over the focusing job.

The lens is a disc-shaped, normally clear piece of protein material larger than the pupil or black center of the eye. It is just back of the pupil, considerably removed from the cornea or clear front part of the eyeball. Surgical removal is a standardized operation.

A little badge containing about a square inch of undeveloped photographic film might have saved Dr. Smith from complications. Everyone who works around cyclotrons and atomic piles now wears such a badge. The films are developed periodically. From the degree of fogging, experts can calculate the amount of radiation.

If the film indicates the person has received more than one-tenth of a roentgen of radiation daily he is kept away from rays for a while, until the passing of time lowers his average daily absorption.

A roentgen is a unit of radiation. It is about one per cent of the amount of radiation ordinarily used to make X-ray pictures.

of the teeth. Scientists of the atom bomb project arbitrarily adopted that amount as the safety limit. They leaned over backwards to make the figure plenty low.

Since Dr. Smith did not wear a film badge he does not know how much radiation he took in terms of roentgens. Science knows approximately how much X-ray exposure is needed to produce cataracts, but neutron rays may be more potent in that respect.

Neutrons along with protons make up the cores of atoms, A neutron ray is simply a stream of these particles whipped up to speeds of thousands of miles a second. They are particularly destructive in living tissue, says Dr. Hamilton, because they can act in three different ways.

In one case a neutron entering the body may combine with a hydrogen atom in the watery part of a living cell. The result is a radioactive atom of heavy hydrogen which eventually breaks down and produces a 2-million volt X-ray particle.

This particle can strike and change the nature of an atom of carbon, oxygen, nitrogen or other chemical component of the cell and bring about a change in the cell itself. In the case of the eye lens it may cause a normally clear cell to become cloudy.

Another destructive sequence occurs when the neutron strikes a nitrogen atom in the cell's protein. The atom becomes radioactive, it turns into an atom of boron and a heavy nuclear fragment called an alpha particle, which also can attack the structure of the cell.

The third process occurs when a single neutron strikes several hydrogen atoms, one after another, turning each of them into an atomic bullet which can damage cell material. After doing that, the neutrons can smash into a nitrogen atom and produce another cell-destroying alpha particle as it did in the second process.

Atomic piles or ovens produce tens of thousands of times as many neutrons as do cyclotrons. However, piles are much safer in that respect than cyclotrons, says Dr. Hamilton, because the neutrons are walled up more completely. Although the piles do not have to be entered for making adjustments.

Neutrons are momentarily present in an atom bomb blast. Stray neutrons also occur in cosmic rays, but apparently in insignificant numbers. Ordinarily they are not produced by radioactive chemicals used in medicine and other experimental sciences.

SCHOOL PROBLEM

The American boast once was that every child could get an education. That may still be true, but not every child can get a good education. A nation-wide survey made by the New York Times indicates that 2,000,000 children this year have poor teachers or inadequate school facilities. There are 105,860 teachers now working who cannot meet the license requirements set up by their representative states.

Bad as this is, the situation was worse a year ago. Then the number of teachers not qualified for license was 122,267. During this same period their salaries, often blamed by educators for scarcity of fit teachers, have gone up. The average instructor now gets $2,644, as against $2,476 last year and $2,026 the year before. This higher level of salaries should have some effect in drawing people into the teaching profession.

Local school problems can sometimes be solved without adding to the taxpayer's load. But when the national situation is surveyed, the conclusion is inevitable that more facilities and more skilled teachers are needed. To make the American boast about education accurate today is going to cost every taxpayer more money. But proper education will be well worth it.

PUTZI AND NAZISM

It has been decided that Putzi was no Nazi. A Bavarian denazification court has freed Ernst Hanfstaengel, better known as "Putzi," Hanfstaengel, who was the son of a Munich art dealer and a Harvard graduate, became a Hitler favorite. As the Fuehrer found his musical talents and his joviality relaxing for a time he was in high favor. Naturally this made the other Nazi leaders jealous, and in 1936 Hanfstaengel found it expedient to flee from Germany. He spent some time in the United States, and gave President Roosevelt some information on the Nazis which may or may not have been found valuable. However, just as in the Hitler days, Hanfstaengel impressed American onlookers as being too much of a playboy to be either a sinister figure or a helper to Uncle Sam.

Accquitted now of responsibility of the Nazis' worst deeds, Putzi may spend the rest of his days playing the piano cheerfully in welcome obscurity.

INFORMING THE PEOPLE

Since the time eight months ago when Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands, and Luxembourg allied themselves for defense in a Western Union, their own people and the world at large have received only a thin trickle of news about the venture.

This policy of secrecy has been in most part due to the unwillingness of France to permit publication of proceedings. The French have

CONFLICT

A headache was the lady's foe
And into a rage she flew,
But this is what she didn't know:
The clerk was troubled, too.

The lady thought that she should be Allowed attention kind,
But we are made that none can see
What's on each other's mind.

A headache is a fretting pain
That anger often starts,
But there are those who must remain
At work with aching hearts.

Oh lady, if you could have known
The hurt that salesgirl hid,
There is no doubt you would have shown
More patience than you did.

feared internal criticism by De Gaulists and by Communists. Recently the views of the other powers on this matter have been voiced by Lord Layton, a prominent British publisher, who has declared that the Western Union's accomplishments will remain only plans on paper if they lack public support. And public support will not be given without efficient publicity. Neither is American aid likely to be forthcoming, say the advocates of a change in policy, unless the American public is informed about the set-up.

The number grows gradually smaller of nations in which a few people at the top of government can make and carry out decisions over the heads of the people concerned. Not as blind puppets, but as thinking individuals, the people in democratic countries will give or withhold support to the plans of their leaders. In this fact lies one hope for eventual peace in the world.

PRESIDENTIAL PITFALLS

Dean Acheson's confirmation by the Senate as the secretary of state was no surprise. Real astonishment would have come if the Senate had rejected the Presidential choice for his cabinet. The last time this happened was to Calvin Coolidge, just after his overwhelming re-election in 1924.

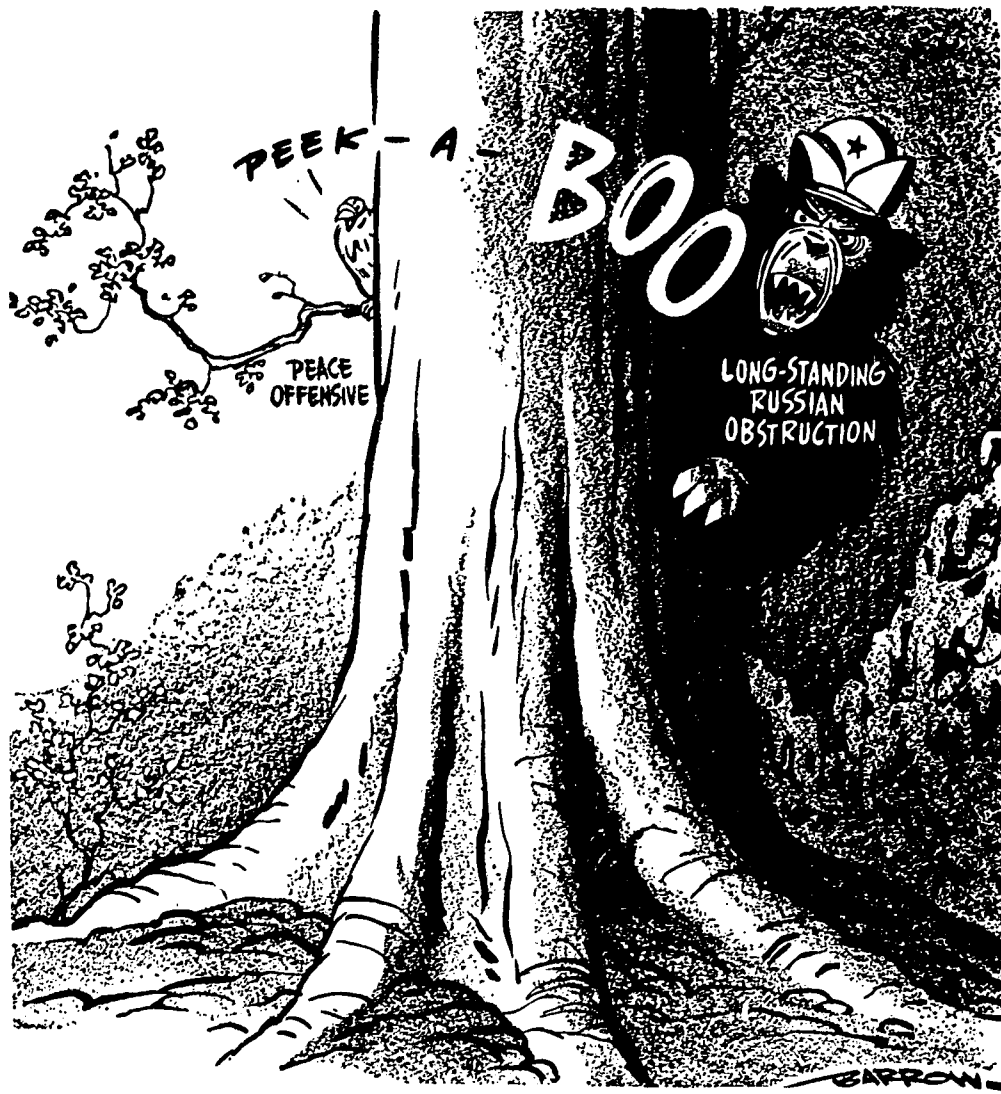

Having an attorney-general to appoint, Coolidge chose the late Charles B. Warren of Detroit, a former ambassador to Japan and an eminent lawyer. The Senate thought it to Warren's discredit that in 1910 he helped various sugar companies in some sharp financial practices, and defeated him by a tie vote. Oddly enough, the blame for the administration's defeat was placed on Vice-President Charles G. Dawes, who had just been lecturing the senators on their inattention to duty. Instead of presiding over the Senate, the vice-president's sole business, Dawes was asleep in his office when the Warren vote was taken, so could not cast the deciding vote in favor of the administration.

Since then presidents have frequently sounded out the Senate before making cabinet appointments to which many senators might be expected to object.

VANDALS IN THE LIBRARY

A distressing problem of the public library in these times is the mutilation of books by vandals. Occasionally a book is stolen, and this may be set down as a matter of simple thievery. When a book is mutilated there is thievery, too, since a portion of the book is stolen, but the damage is so much greater than the theft that the deed can only be called vandalism.

This is a puzzling kind of crime. The person who cuts or tears pages from a book must be moved at least partly by a desire to possess the pages, and this must spring from some appreciation of the artistry of pictures or literature. Why does he not also appreciate the artistic value of the intact book, and the magnitude of the damage done in mutilating it?

If public libraries are to serve their function, the problem is beyond policing. A library cannot have a staff large enough to keep watch over all patrons, and thus prevent vandalism. Moreover honest patrons are likely to be sensitive about being closely watched.

The only practical hope lies in education. The honest patron needs to learn to encourage and abet closer policing. The student who grabs a few pages to take home for work on a term paper should learn that his own moral loss outweighs any possible intellectual gain. The greater effort must be made to reach the artistic sense of the mutilator, to convert him from a vandal to a lover of books.

RUSSIAN MEMORIES

The newspaper correspondent, W. L. White, reminds us in his new book, "Land of Milk and Honey," that only one Russian out of five has anything more than a child's recollection of the country in the pre-Soviet days. Wars, purges and early deaths have carried off many older citizens.

Thus it may be supposed that the average Russian believes about earlier days what he is told by the government, no matter how incredible. He remembers nothing else, and is kept, as far as possible, from contact with the outside world. The weak spots in this wall of blindness are two: the radio, and the contact of Russian soldiers with the superior comforts of Western Europe. What will be the effects of these two elements?

SHARING THE BURDEN

Heads of the military governments of the Western zones of Germany have planned a program of equalization of the effects of war on the German people.

The project calls for taxes to be levied against property classed as agricultural, forestry, real estate and business types, with some exemption. The funds thus raised are to be distributed to "refugees, persons who suffered war damage to their property, persons who suffered losses through money reform, and those persecuted politically." Relief is to take the form of subsistence aid, educational help, grants for reconstruction of building, and purchase of household furnishings.

This program was supposed to have gone into effect at the time of the currency change, but has been delayed. Officials have stated that early action is expected.

The additional approach to normal living conditions which may be made possible by this program may be an important factor in Germany's rehabilitation. Production has been higher and political action more harmonious in the sections which were least damaged during the war. It should be helpful to equalize the situation as far as possible.

PROPHET CHURCHILL

Add to the short list of sound prophets Winston Churchill. As long ago as 1925 he wrote:

"Might not a bomb no bigger than an orange be found to possess a secret power to destroy a whole block of buildings, nay, to blast a township at a stroke? Could not explosives be guided automatically in flying machines by wireless or other rays, without a human pilot, in ceaseless procession upon a hostile city, arsenal, camp or dockyard?"

This is a suggestive forecast of the atomic bomb and of the German flying bombs which played such havoc with Britain in the last year of the war. Churchill may then have had the gift of prophecy, or perhaps he just knew how to put two and two together.

AMERICAN CREDO

In his recent book, "Roosevelt and Hopkins," Robert E. Sherwood has this to say about American national pride:

"You may say to the average American that some other country has a better form of government, or a superior culture or a purer religious faith, and he is apt to reply, without much interest, 'May-be you've got something there, brother,' but try to tell him that some other country can outdo us in manufacture and use any kind of gadget, and he will be up in arms."

This might come pretty close to being the key to American character.

DRIVE FOR PEACE

There is a theory in the country that Russia is embarked on a campaign to picture the Western powers as rejecting the peaceful overtures of Moscow. This theory is shared in Washington, if it did not originate there.

Presumably, under this campaign, Moscow propagandists would repeatedly declare that Russia is ready to make peace in the cold war, and advance specific peace proposals from time to time. Presumably also this campaign would be based on the premise that the Western powers will persistently refuse to talk peace until certain requisite conditions, including the lifting of the Berlin blockade, are first complied with by Russia.

If the Western powers cooperate, a plan like this would have excellent chances of persuading the rest of the world that Russia wants peace, as Moscow has maintained from the beginning, and that the Western powers want war.

A year or so ago Russia effectively spiked the propaganda guns of the United States by publicly accepting at face value the pet American statement that "the door is always open" for negotiations. Has it occurred to anyone that the Russian peace propaganda campaign might be sabotaged in the same way, by promptly and publicly accepting at face value the next proposal from Moscow?

THE GROWING WEST

According to J. E. Hobson, executive director of the Stanford Research Institute, New York by 1960 may give place to Los Angeles as the nation's largest city, and San Francisco may also expect very rapid growth.

Recent population drift has been steadily westward, with the Pacific coast states as the goal of the greatest number of migrants. Mr. Hobson pointed out that many large firms have moved their research plants to the West Coast, and that through the resulting diversification of output that region was on the way to becoming economically independent. The East is losing out to the Midwest, also, this expert pointed out, in a widespread move to get away from large centers of population.

This period may become known in history as that of the second great migration from East to West. The early settlers made their painfully slow journeys toward the setting sun with the idea of acquiring farm land, or in some cases to find a quick fortune in the gold fields. Today's swift travelers are changing the face of the country with huge industrial plants and sprawling housing projects. The United States is one of the few countries in the world where the over-all problem of room for expansion does not yet exist.

Those who don't like these gloomy winter days are reminded of a region which at this time has twice as much sunlight as the rest of the world. This is the South Pole.

The only good thing to be said about a cold war is that it's better than a hot one.

2 Killed, 5 Hurt In Collision Of 2 B-25 Bombers

SHREVEPORT, La., Feb. 3.—Two men were killed and five injured—one a Texan—in the collision of two Barksdale Field B-25 Air Force bombers five miles southeast of here yesterday.

The injured Texan was Capt. Byron B. Boon of Linden, pilot-instructor in one of the planes. There were no other Texans among the casualties.

Capt. Boon, an Air Force public information officer, said pilots of the two crafts apparently became aware at about the same time that they were in danger of colliding. So, the captain said, both dived downward, each expecting to go under the other. Instead, they collided.

The plane, in which Capt. Boon was riding exploded and disintegrated. The other crashed into a field and was buried in the mud. Capt. Boon and four others parachuted.

Make It a Tub Of Good Fun For Your Tyke

By BETTY CLARKE
AP Newsfeature Editor.

If you spoil and pamper baby to the point where it's baby, and not you, who decides whether baby is in the mood for a bath, better change your tactics for the new year.

Start out right by showing baby that a bath or shampoo or any of the other beauty rituals you give her is strictly in the interests of her personal glamor. If these things are made out to be a chore, naturally baby will object.

Impress on baby that she looks so much prettier after her bath. You won't have to wheedle her into the tub if she gets the impression that she gains by the dunking.

An attractive tub also is a winning point. Don't tangle baby by bribing her with toys to play with while she is bathing. But make a lovely bubble bath that will foam to the tub brim, supply some interesting toys that can be used while the bath is in progress.

Resolution Filed To Decide Matter Of Filibustering

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Senator Knowland (R-Calif.) filed a resolution today asking the Senate to bring up the filibuster question for a quick vote.

His resolution would take an anti-filibuster proposal out of the hands of the Senate and place it in the hands of the House, which voted yesterday to postpone any action for one week.

Southern senators meanwhile said they did not expect the administration to press for quick action on the anti-filibuster rule and civil rights legislation.

There are no signs, they said privately, that Democratic leaders are ready to risk the threat of a filibuster which could tie the Senate in a legislative knot.

It is understood, they said, that party leaders want to get part of President Truman's program into law before making any move to bring up the hotly-contested filibuster question.

The southerners are ready to filibuster against any of these proposals.

A civil rights compromise offered by Rep. Hays (D-Ark.) would let the states themselves decide the poll tax issue; modify proposed anti-lynching legislation; encourage the states to eliminate racial discrimination, and abandon plans for federal non-segregation policies.

Family Hacked By 'Tramp'; Mother Dead, 3 Injured

HOUSTON, Tex., Feb. 3.—(AP)—A 32-year-old mother of six children was found beaten to death and her husband and two children severely injured at their Houston home today.

The body of Mrs. Paula Rodriguez was found in a bedroom of the four-room house. Nearby, all unconscious, were her husband, Manuel Rodriguez, 37, and the children, Mary, 17 months old, and Yolanda, 4.

Homicide Capt. George Seber said he believes an axe, missing from the home, was used in the attack on the family.

Four other children were sleeping in another bedroom and were not injured.

Manuel Rodriguez, 10, old police he was awakened by a noise and that he "saw a tramp" leaving the house.

Hospital attendants said the father and two children had fractured skulls and multiple fractures and bruises.

U.S. Body Agrees To Renew Rail Dispute Efforts

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—(AP)—A railroad spokesman said today members of a presidential fact-finding panel have agreed to make a second effort to settle a wage and hour dispute between the railroads and 1,000,000 non-operating workers.

Daniel L. Loomis, chairman of the carriers negotiating committee, said the presidential board will meet with representatives of the railroads and the 16 unions in Chicago Monday.

St. Louis, chairman of the union's negotiating committee, announced yesterday they had reached a stalemate.

Lone Star Gas Shifts Status Of Corsicana Office
"Partial discontinuance" of the local division office of the Lone Star Gas Co. was given confirmation Tuesday.

That the office of the company in the State National Bank building would be closed as a division unit had been sidewalk talk in Corsicana for some time. That there had been a change in the company's Corsicana setup was finally confirmed by officials of the company in a statement given to Associated Press.

The statement said the "partial discontinuance" of this post in the company's general division of distribution resulted from "a re-alignment of territory."

The statement also said: "Division Superintendent F. V. Williams will retire under the company's pension and insurance program, but certain other employees will remain in Corsicana. Other divisions in the future will include what has heretofore been known as the Corsicana division."

It said the "other employees" was not made.

Some of the territory embraced in the Corsicana division will be realigned in the Waco, Greenville and Fort Worth areas.

Williams said the effective date is March 1, although Feb. 1 was the previously effective date.

Weather Causes Baptist Meeting To Be Cancelled
The District 14 Baptist convention scheduled here at the First Baptist church Tuesday was cancelled because of icy highways and weather conditions. Dr. Jared I. Cartledge, convention president the past two years, announced Tuesday morning. Dr. Cartledge said the executive board of the district would meet within the near future in a business session in lieu of the convention.

The convention president pointed out that the college and insurance planned for almost a year, and a later date would conflict with speaking engagements and appearances of the denominational leaders at the convention.

The district brotherhood meeting Tuesday night, A. S. Hamilton, Waco, president, also was cancelled.

The convention and brotherhood embraces a large number of counties in Central Texas. M. O. Cheek, Waco, is district missionary.

Plans had been made for approximately 700 visitors and delegates here for the convention.

GERTRUDE STANDER BECOMES BRIDE OF ABRAM JACOBSON IN CEREMONY SUNDAY P.M.

Miss Gertrude Stander, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David E. Stander, became the bride of Abram Jacobson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Jacobson of Galveston, Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at Aquinas Achim Synagogue with Rabbi J. Shapiro of Corsicana, and Rabbi Max Geller and the Rev. L. M. Yellen of Houston as officiants.

The impressive rites were read beneath a white satin canopy edged with malines and outlined with Southern smilax. Ivory tapers burned in golden candelabra and matching urns held pink carnations, pink lilies and snapdragons as an effective altar decor.

Herbert Lee Silverberg was at the piano for pre-nuptial music, the traditional wedding marches and accompaniments for Mrs. Gertrude Stander who sang "At Dawning" and "Because."

The bride, who entered with her father, wore an original model by Eshkin, in robin-egg blue crepe. The V-neckline was formed by bands of wide Chantilly lace which extended from the midriff in front and over the shoulder to the waistline in the back. The gown was designed with simple short sleeves and a string belt. Its full-length skirt had three tiers, each of which was embellished with bands of Chantilly lace and terminated in a point, creating a back-interest effect. The bridal hat was designed of mauve felt in rippled brim, bonnet effect, and was encircled with a band of pink orange blossoms and forget-me-nots. A soft pink veil fell over the face and was tied in a bow at the back. Long pink gloves completed her ensemble. She carried a prayer book and a range of orchids showered with pink hyacinths and diminutive pink satin ribbons.

Bridal Attendants.
Mrs. Leon Stander, sister-in-law of the bride, served as matron of honor and Miss Golda Claire Geller of Houston attended as maid of honor. They were attired in dusty pink taffeta floor-length gowns.

Both wore hats of matching net and clusters of velvet flowers and carried French bouquets of pink and blue carnations and pink ranunculi showered with matching satin ribbons.

Leon Jacobson of Alexandria, La., brother of the bridegroom, served as best man and the ushers were Jacob Geller and Dr. Milton Yellen of Houston. Harry Swift of Galveston, Louis Rubin of Dallas, Fred B. L. Golub, Mr. and Mrs. H. Rothkop, Mr. and Mrs. Max Altman of Baytown, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Geller, Miss Golda Geller, Jacob Geller, Dr. and Mrs. Milton Yellen, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Yellen, Mr. and Mrs. Max Geller of Houston; Mrs. A. Edelstein of Chicago; Mrs. J. Spector of Denver Colo.; and Mrs. J. Purvin of Dallas.

Push-Button Economy STILLWATER, Okla., (AP)—It's all done by levers in Oklahoma A. and M.'s new $248,000 dairy barn. Milkers stand in a pit. The cows walk in and the milking machine is attached. Cows are milked in three minutes. The milk goes into a glass tank on the wall. It is automatically weighed and then, at the pull of a lever, goes woosh, down a pipe to the cooling room. There are places in the big barn for 1,000 tons of hay and 4,000 bushels of grain. Four silos hold 600 tons. There are quarters for eight attendants and the dairy herd.

SMU Colt Cagers Trounce Bulldogs Tuesday Evening

Navarro's Bulldogs, badly over-matched, dropped a 74-28 decision to the SMU Colts Tuesday night in an exhibition game at Joe Perkins gym in Dallas.

Coach Ken Clark's crew was behind the whole game, but made a good ball game of it in the first half. They trailed, 34-20 at half-time.

The Colts have an impressive record, having been the only team to defeat the Tyler Apaches this year and having trounced Lamar Junior College, which beat Lon Morris, this zone leader, by 30 points.

John Kenner led the Bulldogs scoring with 12 points. Floyd Free-
